Advancing women's rights and female empowerment is crucial on the global stage. By leveraging these influential gatherings, nations can collaboratively strategize and commit to transformative initiatives, breaking barriers for women worldwide. The shared commitment to inclusivity and empowerment can lead to impactful changes, fostering a more equitable and just global landscape, where women's voices are not only heard but actively shape the policies that impact their lives. 13th March 2024 @ 10:30 am. (hall n. tbi)

Women20 emphasize that to achieve gender equity, requires addressing economic and social empowerment, including tackling pay equity and recognizing the disproportionate burden of unpaid care work on women. Gender disparities persist in stereotypes, income, asset ownership, and economic opportunities, creating significant barriers to equality. Policies and programs ensuring equitable access to education, addressing occupational segregation promoting equal pay, supporting women's entrepreneurship, promoting access to affordable and quality healthcare services, and ensuring equal rights and access to justice, including addressing issues such as gender based violence (GBV) and others, are essentials to advance the gender equality agenda, despite existing push-back. co-organized by Brazil and Italy to W20

13TH MARCH 2024 @ 10:30 am. (hall n. tbi)

Advancing women's rights and female empowerment is crucial on the global stage. These international platforms provide opportunities to address gender disparities, advocate for equality, and implement policies fostering women's economic, social, and political empowerment. By leveraging these influential gatherings, nations can collaboratively strategize and commit to transformative initiatives, breaking barriers for women worldwide. The shared commitment to inclusivity and empowerment can lead to impactful changes, fostering a more equitable and just global landscape, where women's voices are not only heard but actively shape the policies that impact their lives.

Women20 emphasize that to achieve gender equity, requires addressing economic and social empowerment, including tackling pay equity and recognizing the disproportionate burden of unpaid care work on women. Gender disparities persist in stereotypes, income, asset ownership, and economic opportunities, creating significant barriers to equality. Policies and programs ensuring equitable access to education, addressing occupational segregation promoting equal pay, supporting women's entrepreneurship, promoting access to affordable and quality healthcare services, and ensuring equal rights and access to justice, including addressing issues such as gender based violence (GBV) and others, are essentials to advance the gender equality agenda, despite existing push-back.
